

Pania of the Reef

with deco border
from a design by Lyn Manning

The story is told that Pania was a woman of the sea and one day she meet a handsome Maori man of the land, Karitoki. So she left the sea and became his wife. Pania lived with her husband in a whare at a spot now known as Sturm's Gully, near the foot of the Napier breakwater.

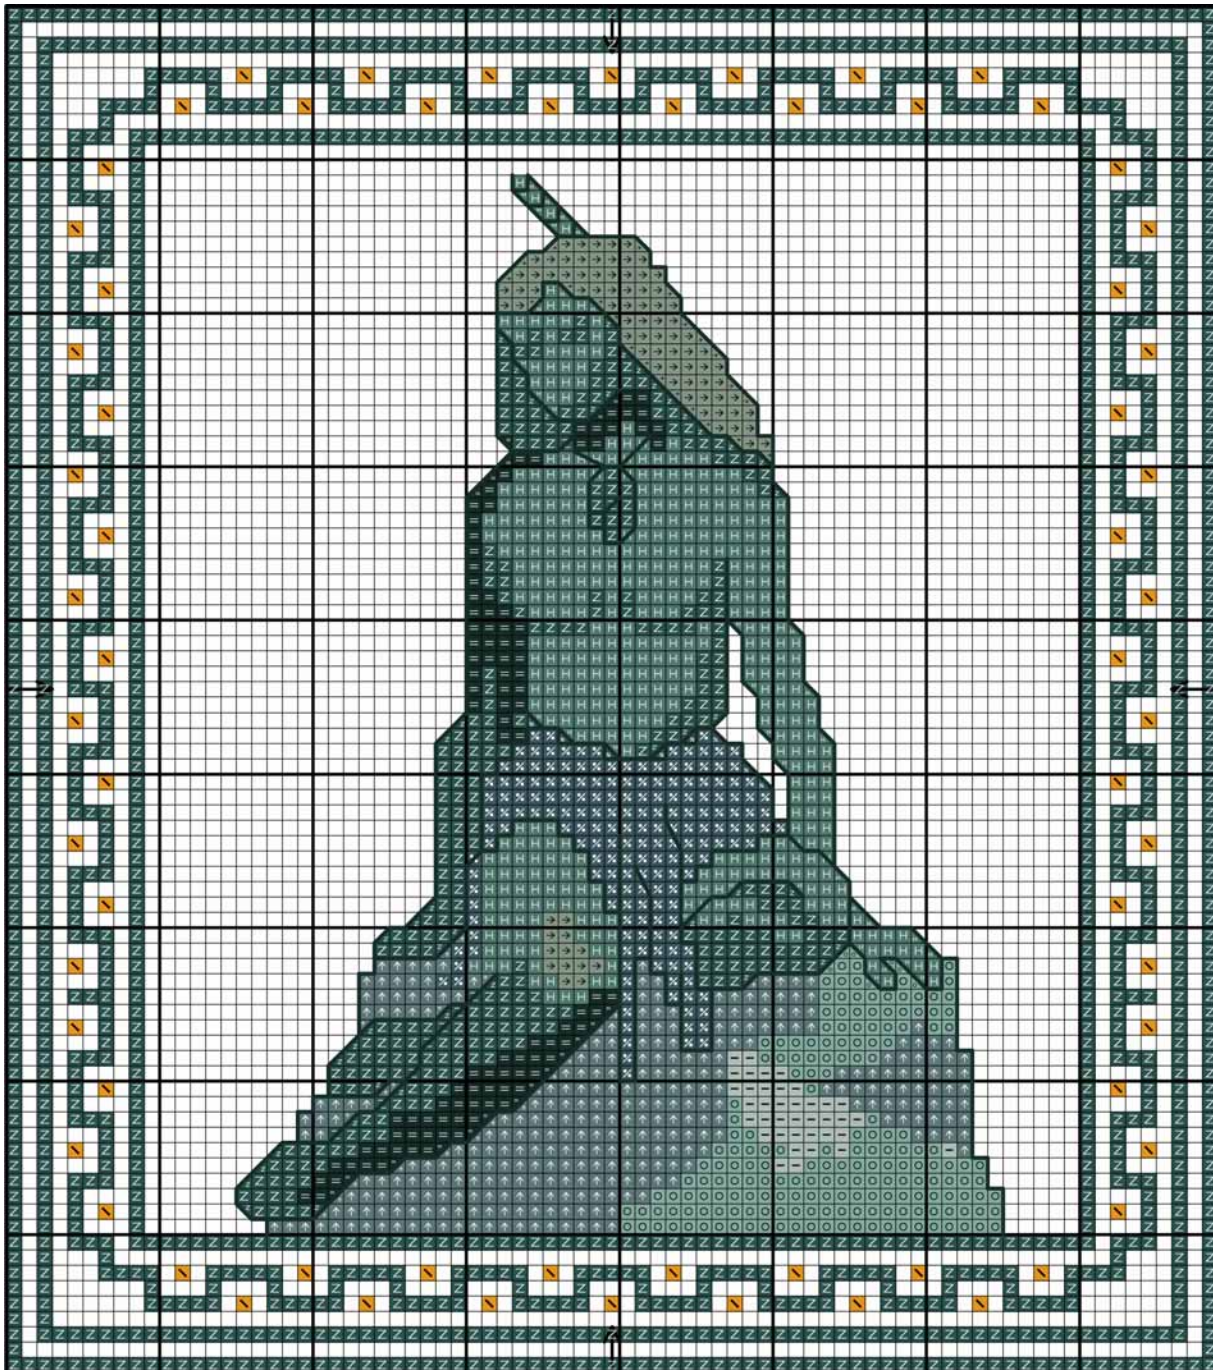

But the sea people were forever calling her. She resisted their call for a long time, but the lure of the sea people became irresistible and she swam out to meet them, just once.

The sea people came from the depths and surrounded her, they drew her down into the caverns of the sea, never to return to the land of mortals.

And now, if you pass over the reef where the kingfish shoal and gaze in to the depths, you will see Pania with arms outstretched, ever striving to return to the lover she left on that fateful day.

Pania of the Reef

with deco border
 from a design by Lyn Manning

DMC Stranded
 Cotton

- 3820
- 500 (back stitch)
- 500
- 501
- 502
- 503
- 926
- 928
- 3768
- 3813

Finished size: 15 x 17cm
Suggested Material:
 25 x 30cm Zweigart
 14ct Antique White Aida

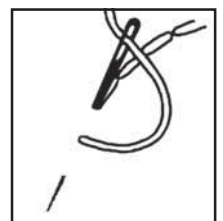

Instructions:
 Stitch symbols as Cross stitch or 3/4 Cross Stitch with 2 strands. Stitch lines as Back stitch with one Strand.

Cross Stitch

3/4 Cross Stitch

Back Stitch